The name of Former Governor Lowden in recent weeks has been often heard in connection with the gubernatorial candidacy. Perhaps the hand of fate will now take Lowden from Illinois political affairs and place him once more in the national arena.

It is worth while noting that a newspaper correspondent who has made a study of the agricultural situation in some of the western states declares that the farmer has had enough of special legislation in his behalf. The farmer is beginning to feel that some of this legislation was ill-advised and that another part is futile.

Each day continues to bring its suggestions for improving the market situation, but thus far that suggestion by a Chicago banker remains the most significant and the simplest to try. He merely suggests that Secretary Wallace indicate that he will not enforce certain requirements of the Capper-Tincher bill for a definite period of months.

The heavy rainfall yesterday helped along to some extent with the Jacksonville water supply. If other rains come with frequency during the next few weeks it is to be hoped that the people, as so often happens do not assume a feeling of complacency and forget that certain betterments should by all means be made in the Jacksonville system, both to increase the supply and improve the efficiency of distribution.

COOLIDGE A MAN OF POISE.

While the stock exchanges throughout the U. S. were closed yesterday because of the death of the president, it is not likely that any special flurry would have been caused had they remained in operation. Business is not as easily frightened as was once the case and in this instance there is the further fact of confidence in Calvin Coolidge, who by the death of President Harding is automatically advanced to the presidency. At the time of the last national convention Mr. Coolidge was counted as one of the presidential candidates "in the running," and there was a wide spread feeling that he was entirely capable of filling the office. Nothing since has occurred to shake the faith.

Mr. Coolidge as governor of Massachusetts came to a position of influence and his action in the Boston police case gave him a national reputation. Friends of Coolidge prior to the national convention in advocating his candidacy issued in book form a number of his addresses, made while governor. They were printed under the title "Have Faith in Massachusetts." No one can read these utterances of Mr. Coolidge without being impressed with his logic, directness, bravery of speech and his grasp of various economic questions.

READERS IN SMALL TOWNS.

The extension division of the Illinois state library finds that rural communities read more books per capita than their big sister cities. For instance Chicago reads only 32 books per year per capita while the little town of Arthur, with less than 1,000 population has an average per capita book circulation of 13.1 or more than a book a month for every man, woman and child in the town.

Evans and East St. Louis, too, have low reading records while Cordova, with 553 inhabitants reads 12.2 volumes per person. The racial history of the towns considered should be known before any very useful conclusions can be drawn. Furthermore, there may be other small towns in which the reading habit is much less firmly fixed than in Cordova and Arthur. Such statistics gathered in other states might show big differences, too.

Incidentally quality rather than quantity counts most in reading as in other things. It would be interesting to know whether the big and little towns are reading the same sort of books, the same best sellers and the same histories and biographies and scientific works.

NEW VOTERS.

The various courts authorized to act in such matters last year issued final naturalization papers to 143,614 foreign born residents of the United States. The total is down from those of the last two years, and much lower than that for the record year 1919, but it indicates the magnitude of the problem of assimilation which confronts the nation.

The alien who desires to become a citizen of the republic may do so in little more than five years, if he files his declaration of intention as soon as possible after arrival, but the number of certificates reported for the fiscal year ending June 30 is proof enough that most of these new voters reached America before the world war cut so deeply into immigration. The nationality of the new citizens emphasizes the same point. Italians and poles predominated. British and Germans came next, with barely half their numbers, and then followed Czechoslovaks, Austrians, Hungarians, Swedes, Jugo-Slavs, Turks and Greeks in order. Portugal, Spain and little Luxembourg brought up the rear.

The proportions in which the various nationalities are represented among these new voters is interesting, of course, but we would be glad to know the percentages of each immigrant nationality applying for the rights of citizenship.

Those figures would be infinitely more significant and valuable at a time when most Americans are interested in the problems which immigration has created and still presents.

THE DEATH OF LINCOLN RECALLED

Many elderly people were forcibly reminded yesterday of the untimely death of President Lincoln only the conditions were much more appalling when the great emancipator was stricken down. The whole nation seemed stunned and unable to realize the dreadful truth. All united in mourning and animosities were soon forgotten in the universal bereavement.

Almost the second remark yesterday morning was "How fortunate that we have such a good man as Vice President Coolidge to take the chair." In 1864 with mistaken generosity, the Republican party chose Andrew Johnson vice president as a token of good will but the fact proved most disastrous to the nation. A gentleman formerly a resident of this city, and who was in the union army and stationed in the south at the time of the Lincoln's assassination said his regiment was near a fire eating, southern place. The boys felt grieved and stern. They went about the town and if they caught anyone rejoicing over the killing of the union chief they shot him on the spot.

This was not at all general for all the cool heads, north and south, well knew the south had lost its best friend, subsequent events most fearfully bore out the prediction.

FIRST AID IN DROWNING

A doctor tells of a child who fell into the water and was pulled out in a condition of unconsciousness. No one of the crowd that gathered about knew how to apply effective first aid measures. One man attempted an impotent pumping up and down of the arms, which accomplished nothing. The child was considered dead until a physician arrived and applied the right sort of artificial respiration. The child recovered. If he had died because no physician could be brought to the scene his death would have been charged to the ignorance of the helpless rescuers.

The Schaefer method of artificial respiration is sufficiently simple for a child to understand. It should be studied and practiced by old and young so that it could be readily applied in an emergency, Schaefer described it thus:

Place the subject prone (face downward) on the ground with a thick towel or blanket under the belly. The subject's face is turned on one side and his hands rest palms on the ground on either side just above the head. Obviously this posture allows any water in the chest to drain from the mouth.

"Kneel athwart or beside the body, facing the head, and place your hands on each side over the lower part of the back (the lowest ribs). Slowly throw your weight forward on your arms, thus pressing down upon the thorax of the subject and squeezing the lungs so that air is forced out of them. Then gradually relax the pressure by resuming your erect position without removing your hands from the subject's back. This permits air to enter the chest as the ribs respond from their own elasticity. Repeat these movements at the rate of 12 to 16 times a minute for as long as may be necessary. Do not give up the end of an hour or so."

Try this out on the family before going to that cottage at the lake or that picnic up the river or that fortnight at the seaside.

They are not higher priced—Vacuum Cup Tires. You save $4.25 on a 30x3 1/2 at Brady Bros. Hdw. Co.

ZION PICNIC COUNTED A GREAT SUCCESS

Rain Did Not Interfere With Church Event Near Murrayville.

Although a heavy rain, lasting about an hour fell Thursday during the all-day picnic at Zion church southeast of Murrayville, festivities were continued just the same, and the affair was a glorious success in spite of the rain.

The affair was in charge of Reverend H. M. Ingram, pastor of the Zion church, and he was ably assisted by every one in that locality. Rev. Frank E. Bracewell had been chosen as principal speaker of the day, but was unable to attend, and in his absence Rev. W. C. Harms, pastor of the Murrayville M. E. church and Rev. A. E. Powell, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Woodson were called on for impromptu speeches. In their talks they emphasized the fact that the farmer would eventually come into his own and that the present depression could not last. They also prophesied that eventually those who are now flocking to the cities will again hear the call of the land and return to not only strengthen the different communities, but also the rural churches which have suffered so much by the exodus from the country into the towns. During the afternoon and evening the Murrayville orchestra rendered some splendid numbers and several readings were given by Miss Frances Alkire of Jacksonville, Misses Stella Cunningham and Elta Babson of Murrayville favored the audience with some very beautiful solos and a vocal trio was given by Mrs. Oscar King, Miss Stella Cunningham and T. Beadles of Murrayville.

In the line of good things to eat 150 gallons of burgoo had been prepared and this was supplemented by a plentiful supply of ice cream, cake, pie, sandwiches, coffee and other good things, but the crowd soon disposed of practically every thing on hand, a total amount of $324.20 being realized from the sale at the stands and from the auction sale of the different articles which had been donated by the neighbors and the merchants in nearby towns.

BAKERY FIRM ROBBED OF MONEY AND EATS

Cash, Pies and Cake Stolen from Federal Bakery at Early Hour Last Night—Thieves Gain Entrance by Taking Glass from Rear Door

A message was received by Chief Kiloran about midnight that a man giving his name as Joe Barton was being held by the Springfield police for the robbery of Smith's Federal bakery. It is reported that, after the robbery, Barton caught the blind baggage on the eastbound Wash-bash passenger train No. 12, leaving Jacksonville about 9:15 o'clock. It happened that the blind-baggage carried another passenger to Springfield, and en route to Springfield Barton told his riding companion of the crime that he had committed. On the arrival at Springfield his companion turned Barton over to the Springfield police. A detail will go to Springfield this morning with a warrant for Barton and he will be returned to the Morgan County jail.

One of the boldest burglaries that has taken place in this city for sometime occurred last night between 7:30 and 9 o'clock when thieves gained entrance to the Federal Bakery on West State street and took $2.50 in cash, several pies and a cake. The robbers forced an entrance by taking a pane of glass from a rear door. The work of taking out the glass must have occupied considerable time but it was done in a private alley in the rear of the building at a spot hidden in a recess or entry way. This part of the business section is seldom frequented by pedestrians, especially at night.

Three or four large pies and a similar number of smaller ones were taken from the shelves. The cash drawer was opened and the available cash to the sum of $3.50 was stolen. Although the street in front of the bakery is particularly alive at the hour when the robbery occurred, the intruders were not noticed.

Police were notified of the burglary and began a search for the perpetrators of the crime. The theft was discovered before 9 o'clock by Walter Smith, proprietor of the bakery. Police believe the robbery to have been the work of amateurs, perhaps youths who were looking for a feast of pie and cake. A careful search of the city was made by police, but at last reports, no trace of the robbers had been found. Fortunately Mr. Smith had taken $120 from the register just at closing time.

ENCAMPMENT HELD REGULAR MEETING

Ridgely Encampment No. 8 met last evening in regular session with Chief Patriarch Rully York presiding. There was a splendid attendance. Several of the members made talks, the principal speakers being T. M. Tomlinson, and W. E. Mann. It was decided to have the regalia freshened up and prepared for the fall work.

The Encampment then closed and the members retired to the club room and enjoyed a social hour.

INTERESTING STORY OF LIBRARY GROWTH THRUOUT ILLINOIS

How Pioneer Communities Built Up Their Libraries

(By the Associated Press)

Springfield—The story of how pioneer communities built up struggling libraries on the frontier and how the love of good books was encouraged in Illinois communities is told in a bulletin issued by the library extension division of the State Library here and written by Miss Mary Eileen Ahearn.

The growth of libraries in Illinois really began in 1872 when the state legislature passed a bill introduced by Representative Samuel Caldwell of Peoria providing for tax supported public libraries. The bill was introduced at the request of E. S. Wilcox, a friend of the prairies, however, only a few years after the Indian left, Miss Ahearn points out.

An appeal from Chicago which had just begun to recover from the great fire is thought to have had much to do with the passing of the Caldwell bill. That city had just received from Thomas Hughes, author of "Tom Brown's School Days," and other English friends, a gift of 3,000 volumes as a beginning and immediately set to work to build up a free library.

Scope Broadened.

The year 1893 marked another milestone of progress, Miss Ahearn said. At the Chicago Exposition many citizens got the idea of broadening the scope of their collections and of making the purpose of them educational as well as entertaining. The following year a school for librarians was established at the Armour Institute, Chicago. This school was moved to the University of Illinois in 1897. Since then the University has sent out more than 500 graduate librarians.

One of the earliest libraries in the state is thought to have been the one at Belleville. It was founded by a group of German settlers who wanted to study the famous "Life of Washington" by Sparks. A small group bought the volume between them and added other books to this until the Belleville library became a free institution supported by public taxation.

The Warren County library was founded in 1836, according to Miss Ahearn. It had a precarious existence until 1865 when W. P. Presley gave it substantial aid and erected the first building in Illinois for library use.

The Galesburg library was founded in 1853 at the time of the Lincoln-Douglas debates. At first it was a subscription library, and Professor Hurd of Knox college acted as curator without remuneration. Galesburg now has 54,000 volumes.

Among these libraries planted in the early days was the one at Alton established in 1852 by a stock company which had a checkered career. Thirty women bought it in 1865 and kept it going for 30 years.

There were many subscription libraries in the state before the law of 1872 was passed. In Elgin there was a circulating library as early as 1846. Elgin took advantage of the new law and erected a new building two years after the Caldwell bill was passed by the legislature.

The first year after the governor signed the bill eight Illinois cities took advantage of the new privileges granted them, and the following libraries were established: Elgin, Chicago, Rockford, Warsaw, East St. Louis, Rock Island, Moline and Oregon.

Other libraries having a continuous existence from the seventies to the present time are Carpentersville, Cairo, Polo, Morrison, Centralia, Champaign and Cordova.

CASE APPEALED

SPONGE SQUAD OUT TO DRY UP CHICAGO

(By the Associated Press) CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Starting an announced cleanup campaign against bootlegging establishments in Chicago, estimated to total 10,000, Police Superintendent Morgan Collins recently organized "sponge squad" raided soft drink saloons here today, seized thirty-five gallon jugs and fifty-four quart bottles of wine and 136 pints of moonshine whiskey and arrested the proprietor. Chief Collins announced yesterday he would begin active work to make a prohibition cleanup of the city, his statement coming shortly after U S District Attorney Edwin Olson declared in a public address that city and county officials were not co-operating with federal authorities in efforts to arrest violators. Collins' action was not the result of Olson's charges but had been under consideration for some time. He plans equipping several men with an automobile to begin a tour of every place in the city suspected of selling liquor making arrests wherever evidence is found.

LATE NEWS NOT IN BIG CITY PAPERS

It was noticeable yesterday that the regular mail editions of the large city papers which came to Jacksonville made no mention of the death of President Harding. This was of course due to the fact that the city papers in order to make the mail into down state territory must close their forms not later than 9 o'clock. The big city papers of course have their advantages, but when it comes to late night or early morning news happenings—that is another matter.

FAMOUS COLLECTION OF PAINTINGS GIVEN CHICAGO INSTITUTE

Represents Life Time Collection of the Kimball Family

CHICAGO. (By A. P.)—Twenty-one paintings, said to represent a lifetime of collecting have just been presented to the Chicago Art Institute by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kimball of Chicago. Among the canvases now on display is Rembrandt's famed "Portrait of His Father," Turner's "Dutch Fishing Boats" and Sir Thomas Lawrence's "Portrait of Mrs. Wolf." Other paintings presented the Art Institute are Corot's "Bathing Nymphs and Child," a work by John Constable said to be one of his finest, and another by Millet.

Collection Valuable

The Hutchinson collection, bought in 1890 for $125,000 and now valued at $2,000,000, is said to be attracting considerable attention from visitors this summer. This group of paintings was purchased in part from Prince Paul Demidoff in 1890 and includes what is generally considered one of the two finest Rembrandts in existence, "Young Girl at an Open Half Door." Two Van Dycks and Rubens "Marcus Spilola" also are in the collection. "The Song of the Lark," in the field gallery, is said by officers of the Institute to be the most famous painting in America. This group contains the finest collection of the Barbizon school of art in the world.

French Want Picture

A Michigan avenue art dealer declared recently the French government would give $500,000 to obtain Millet's "Bringing Home the New Born Calf" and Corot's "Landscape 103," both said to be extremely popular both here and abroad. The collection of Innes landscapes in the Institute is said to be the largest in the world, and Mrs. Potter Palmer's collection of nineteenth century artists is deemed by critics to be representative. This collection is said to represent the work of a lifetime in collecting. It includes Corot's "Orpheus," DeChavannes' "Sacred Grove" and copies of Gains, Millet, Manet, Renoir, Monet, Daubigny and Whistler.

WILL OPEN CLINIC FOR LAME CHILDREN

KANKAKEE.—(By the A. P.)—The Rotary Club here will sponsor a campaign soon for the establishment of a free clinic for crippled children. The committee in charge of the work plan a survey first to determine how many such children there are in the locality.

The Illinois Vocational Rehabilitation law does not take within its purview any one under the age of 16, but confines its work to those who have reached the age of employability, the Rotarians say. They feel it is a public duty to care for the children until such time as the legislature makes adequate provision for them on the statute books. The hope to obtain the co-operation of the medical board, the school board, the city council and various civic organizations.

HARDING FUNERAL TRAIN ENROUTE EAST

ended at 1:30 P. M. Tuesday the body of Warren G. Harding will rest a while in the White House where he served the American people for nearly two and a half years and then in the capitol where, as a senator from Ohio he represented his native state for six years. Funeral services will be held in the capitol rotunda late next Wednesday after the body has laid in state all day, and then will begin the final journey to Marion, Ohio.

Arriving on the morning of Thursday at Marion among the home folks the dead president loved best the body will be given the tender and loving care of neighbors and friends until the following day when funeral services will be held and a national day of mourning observed. Then it will be laid to rest in the Marion cemetery.

City Pays Respects
San Francisco was afforded the first opportunity to pay respects to the dead leader when the body was taken from the Palace Hotel where it had rested since the end came last night to the Third and Townsend street station. But before the long trip across the continent is ended almost countless other communities will be allowed the privilege, tho' to lesser degree, for the train only will be stopped to change engines and for other operating purposes. It is expected that people will gather along the route the entire way and with uncovered heads pay not only their own personal respects but those of the whole American nation. The arrangements for the trip were made by the grief-stricken members of the president's party today while literally thousands stood about the hotel or walked slowly thru the lobbies. The plans all were submitted to Mrs. Harding for final approval and she was able to give them her attention for she still was bearing up well under the load of sorrow.

Mrs. Harding obtained some rest last night retiring at 1 o'clock and sleeping until morning.

Mindful of Others
Thruout the day she moved about the presidential suite always, according to those she met, more mindful of others than of herself. She remained steadfast to her determination made last night not to break down, but whether she could continue to do so during the long trip ahead only time will tell.

Supporting Mrs. Harding in withstanding her sorrow were messages of sympathy from all parts of the world. Telegrams poured into the hotel all thru the day. They came from former presidents, Woodrow Wilson and William Howard Taft; from members of the cabinet; from governors and mayors; from rulers of foreign countries and from persons unknown beyond the borders of their communities.

Late in the day Colonel George Filmer, past potentate of the Mystic Shrine, called to present the sympathy of San Francisco Shriners and Mrs. Harding stood for five minutes talking to him, showing the effects of her grief only in a few tears that trickled down her cheeks. This was but one example of how she was courageously standing the strain.

Secretary Makes Plans
Much of the work of making plans for the future was done by George B. Christian, Jr., who had served as Mr. Harding's secretary for years.

Mr. Christian was in Los Angeles when the chief executive passed away having gone there to read to the Knights Templar of Hollywood what proved the president's last public expression, and he was hurried to San Francisco by special train. The four cabinet members in San Francisco—Secretaries Hoover, Wallace and Work and Attorney General Daugherty—assisted in this task.

The schedule for the funeral train to Washington as announced prior to its departure follows:

Leave San Francisco Friday, Aug. 3 at 7 P. M., arrive at Ogden, Saturday, Aug. 4, at 9:05 P. M.; arrive at Omaha, Monday, Aug. 6 at 2:15 P. M.; arrive at Chicago Monday, Aug. 6 at 3:30 P. M., and arrive at Washington via Baltimore & Ohio, Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 10:35 P. M.

The Funeral Train
The train itself is much the same as that which left Washington on the afternoon of June 20, carrying the president, full of hope, on the trip across the continent to Tacoma, Wash., where the chief executive, Mrs. Harding and members of their party boarded the naval transport Henderson for the voyage to Alaska. The private car Superb, which carried the president then and from which he greeted thousands in rear platform addresses, had been set aside to carry his body back.

The party which travels on the train also is much the same as that which left Washington fifty four days ago. It consists of Mrs. Harding, Secretaries Hoover, Wallace and Work, all of whom made the trip out to the coast; and also Attorney General Daugherty, the two physicians, Brigadier General Sawyer and Lieutenant Commander Boone; General Pershing who has abandoned an army post inspection trip to make the trip back; Admiral Rodman; Commissioner Spry of the general land office; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Jennings, who were the personal guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harding on the trip to Alaska; and Secretary and Mrs. Christian; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Rensberg, the latter a sister of the late president and family also made the trip on the train.

The others on the train are the military and naval aides, assistant secretaries, clerks and stenographers, the secret service men and the newspapermen who have been a part of the party thruout.

Then there are sixteen enlisted men and two officers of the army and navy composing the guard of honor.

COOLIDGEISMS

Rejecting the rule of law is accepting the sword of force.

All true Americans are working for each other.

Observance of the law is the greatest solvent of public ills.

Either the people must own the government, or the government will own the people.

There will be, can be, no escape from the obligation of the strong to bear the burdens of civilization, but the weak must be aided to become strong.

In a free republic a great government is a product of a great people.

Look well to the hearthstone; therein all hope for America lies.

While the law is observed, the progress of civilization will continue; when such observance ceases, chaos and the ancient night of despotism will come again.

The most obvious place to begin entrenchment is by eliminating the extravagance of government itself.

CALVIN COOLIDGE, new President of the United States, was born in the tiny town of Plymouth, Vt., July 4, 1872.

Running in his veins by direct lineage is the blood of the Mayflower pilgrims. From them he inherited a predominant Puritan respect for law and order such as characterized his conduct as governor of Massachusetts, in refusing to temporize with leaders of the Boston police strike.

Silent, reserved, uncommunicative almost to the point of brusqueness, he rose to national political ascendency in 1919 when he was mentioned for the Republican nomination for President.

When the nomination went to Harding, Coolidge was first and there was no second in the contest for vice president.

Political Victor
During his political life, Coolidge ran for various offices, state and municipal, a total of 17 times. He won every race, and only once was the fight close, the occasion being in his second contest for the Massachusetts State Legislature, when he received a plurality of only 63 votes.

Born to a life on the farm, during his boyhood Coolidge occupied himself doing chores and helping out in his father's general store.

He attended the little red schoolhouse at Plymouth. From there he went to the old Black Rock River Academy at Ludlow, Vt., to prepare himself to enter college. He had vague hopes of reaching so high, for the family farm and store were not over-productive and money in the Coolidge family was scarce.

In 1891, however, though considerably older than the average freshman because scanty means had prevented him leaving home, he entered Amherst.

There, in his senior year, he won a gold medal offered for the best essay on the principles of the Revolutionary War, the competition being open to the undergraduates of all American colleges. In 1895 he was graduated with high honors.

In 1897 he was admitted to the Massachusetts bar and began the practice of law at Northampton. Following two terms as mayor of that city, two as city solicitor, two in the state legislature, four in the senate, three as lieutenant governor and two as governor, his political star shot into the national constellation.

In person, Coolidge typifies the New England gentleman. He has probably never slapped a man on the back. He is quiet to the point of taciturnity in his speech and possesses a twinkling eye and a mouth and chin that, with all his kindly smile, are as firm and inflexible as Plymouth Rock itself.

In 1906, he married Miss Grace Goodhue, then a teacher in the Clarke School, Northampton. Two sons have been born to them. At the time of his election as vice president, the couple lived in a modern home at Northampton for which they paid $32 a month rental.

He is said to own no real estate, and never has owned an automobile.

PRESSURE EXERTED UPON COOLIDGE TO CALL LEGISLATURE

To Come Largely from Sources Already Heard From

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Pressure for the calling of an extra session of congress is to be brought to bear on President Coolidge. It will come largely from two sources, those seeking legislation designed to relieve the farmers and those who see in the threatened strike in the anthracite coal fields the possibility of another fuel famine in New York and New England the coming winter.

What the decision of the new chief executive will be remains for the future. Recently, however, he was quoted as saying that at that time he saw no necessity for an extra session. This view was in line with that of President Harding who often had voiced his determination that there should be no extra session unless some unforeseen emergency made one necessary.

Would Be Precedent

Should Mr. Coolidge call congress together in advance of the date for the beginning of its regular session—December 3, he would establish a precedent. Twice before a president had died with congress absent from Washington and in neither case did the man who succeeded to the presidency, Chester A. Arthur and Theodore Roosevelt, issue a call for a special session of the law makers.

Movements looking to an extra session already have been launched by senators and representatives from the west and from New England. Recently several senators met at Minneapolis and dispatched a telegram to President Harding urging that congress be assembled so as to enact legislation for the relief of the farmers, particularly the wheat growers. The telegram was sent to Brigadier General Sawyer, Mr. Harding's personal physician with a request that it be presented when the executive's condition permitted. These and other senators are expected to present like requests to Mr. Coolidge.

GUILTY OF MURDER; SENTENCED TO HANG

BENTON, Ill., Aug. 3.—John Boineski, 24, today was found guilty in circuit court here of having shot and killed Miss Treasa Krivick, and sentenced to be hanged. He was charged with having killed the girl on April 14 last, after she refused to marry him. He then attempted to commit suicide but was prevented from doing so by persons attracted by the shots. The date of execution will be fixed later.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED

Budapest, Aug. 3.—(By The A. P.)—The government has declared martial law thruout Hungary as a result of the strike of the railroad engineers. The cabinet refused the men's demands for higher wages, which were doubled as late as Wednesday. The Engineers' Union has been ordered to dissolve and the strike leaders have been arrested.

COOLIDGE ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON TO TAKE HIGH OFFICE

stars and stripes float above the official missions of the American government the outward manifestation of national grief already has begun. On the white house, on government department buildings, over navy ships and army garrisons, among embassies, legations and consulates abroad and on the residences and business places of many patriotic American citizens, the flag has been dropped to half mast as a token of sorrow and respect.

The lament of the army over its commander-in-chief is to be sounded to the world in much different fashion. From dawn to dusk tomorrow in every army post and station saluting cannon will speak at intervals the sorrow of the land forces of America. On the sea too and at shore stations of the navy there will be fitting observance of the fall of a comrade in the nation's service. Orders for these ceremonies and for other observance of national sorrow were issued today after hesitation due to absence from Washington of the new president and the disinclination of the officials to take upon themselves an authority which might be disputed.

Federal Officials Close

No one having directed to the contrary the government departments opened as usual this morning. But two hours later after conferences with his colleagues in office, Secretary Hughes ordered that the doors of all the branches of the federal government be closed. They are to remain closed also on the day of the funeral which may be designated by President Coolidge as a day of general mourning thruout the land.

Until the body of departed president has been consigned to the soil of state which gave him to the nation it is probable that little will be done toward the shaping of public policies by his successor.

By retaining in office all the present members of the cabinet Mr. Coolidge not only has left in operation all the necessary machinery to carry on the work of the government but has contributed to the complete stability of a governmental organism which might otherwise function but poorly, under the stress of the emergency.

Until the end of next week he is expected to give attention sparingly to insure that the last rites for the fallen president express fittingly a nation's gratitude to a servant who remained faithful unto death and then when the last accent of the burial service was passed away into American history the new head of the nation will shoulder in serious earnest the heavy burden of responsibility which has passed to his keeping.

NATIVE NATURALIST VS. THEORIST.

Washington, D. C. — A book-taught botanist recently visited Glacier National Park to add some first-hand knowledge of plant life to his learning, the Bureau of National Parks is told. After a day on the mountain side gathering specimens, he returned to Many-Glacier Hotel elated over the discovery of some sarvis berries. Tourists opened conversation with the "scientist" as he entered the lobby carrying an armful of berry-laden branches.

"Yes, I have made a rare discovery, I think," the botanist announced. "Now, you see, there are three distinct types of berries here. The green and the red ones seem to be quite common, but the brown ones are not so plentiful."

A man wearing chaps and a buckskin shirt standing nearby broke into the conversation at this juncture. They're all brown when they're half ripe," he said in a voice carrying unhidden disgust.

STATE HEALTH DEPT.
HEALTH GRAMS

With "hogs active" in East St. Louis and "cattle dull" in Chicago, Illinoisians have a good chance to extract the much advertised vitamins from fresh vegetables. Incidentally an increased vegetable and fruit diet helps one to withstand the summer heat and adds tone to the physical condition of the body, says the state department of public health.

The fellow who continually "enjoys poor health" probably never had a "brainstorm" in his life. His grey matter isn't that active, otherwise he would long since have had a completed physical examination by a competent physician and thus embarked upon a health career full of vim and vigor.

Last year there were 58,000 more births than deaths in Illinois, according to statistics from the state health department. If the birth and death rates for the state remain the same throughout the next 10 years the excess of births over deaths will be sufficient to populate a city the size of St. Louis, Mo.

The health gnome says that the fountain of youth is an automatic device that operates anywhere at any time when common sense living habits are practiced. Some folks think that polluted drinking water just naturally causes typhoid fever. They forget, says the state director of health, that man has a monopoly on that disease and that water couldn't be polluted with typhoid germs in the first place if some person wasn't careless about his personal hygiene.

Pasteurization is the process of heating milk to 140 degrees Fahrenheit and holding it at that temperature for 30 minutes. State health officers say that this is the only practical means known to science which will guarantee the absolute safety of milk without injuring its food value.

Still there is a kernel of truth in the old saying that to sweep dust from under a sick man's bed is a bad omen. Lots of things, says the state health director, are better for a patient than a nose full of dust. Might try an oiled mop on the floor of the sick room.

Common house flies are the most versatile of creatures. They travel with perfect equanimity from the most loathsome of filth to the choice dainties of the dining room. They cater to the passenger traffic of disease germs, says the state health director, and murder a baby with equal delight.

HEAVY RAINFALL

The heavy rain which began about 10:30 o'clock Friday morning caused annoyance from overflowing sewers but did an immense amount of good. The water fall was such that the runoff increased the supply in both Nichols park and Mauvasterre lake. In addition the rain was of great value to the farming community, as corn is just in the condition that the moisture would mean a larger yield next fall.

The rush of water along some of the principal streets in the city gave a supply of water which the sewers could not readily carry and water backed up into the cellars of many residences and business buildings.

FIRPO IS FORCED TO GO THRU TEN ROUNDS

Necessary to Get Referee's Decision in Ten Round Match with Homer Smith

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 3. (By A. P.)—Luis Angel Firpo, challenger to Jack Dempsey for heavyweight honors was forced to go thru 10 rounds with Homer Smith, Kalamezoo, Mich., heavyweight this evening before winning by a referee's decision. Firpo won the bout by a large margin, newspapermen at the ringside said, scoring knockdowns almost at will. It was the first time since the Argentine's entry to this country that he did not win his fight via the knockout route.

Smith caught Firpo a hard right to the jaw which rocked the Argentine, Luis retaliated with a series of jabs. He was using the rabbit punch repeatedly. Firpo knocked Smith down for a count of nine and had his opponent cautious. During the fourth round however, Smith rushed Firpo to the ropes sending in long rights.

GIVES FIRPO ROUNDS
Newspapermen at the ringside gave Firpo the first three rounds and Smith the fourth by a slight margin.

Firpo knocked Smith down five times for a count of nine each time in the sixth round. The South American seemed to score at will but could not measure his man. Smith was groggy when the bell rang.

Firpo was plainly worried. Smith baffled the Argentine by his clinching tactics. In the seventh and eighth rounds, Firpo hit him with everything he had and after each blow Smith went down for a count of nine, jumping up spryly when the referee tolled the ninth count. In the first part of the eighth Smith hit Luis with a vicious right and received a series of hard right smashes and uppercuts to the jaw. Smith played for Firpo's stomach.

Firpo knocked Smith to the canvas with a series of kidney blows. Smith again took the count of nine, three times during the round. The Kalamazoo heavy held on continually during the last round, the referee having difficulty separating him from Firpo. The bell rang with Firpo trying to catch Smith for a knockout.

Georgia Rose Talcum Powder

appeals irresistibly to women who like a single floral odor, and prefer the rose. The reason is that every can of contains a generous quantity of real attar of rose—giving the talc a wonderful rosy fragrance, like the flower itself.

If you have not tried this most popular of all rose-scented talcs, we would like to show you how true to Nature such a talcum can be when prepared by America's Master Perfumer. Beautiful, decorated can, with the convenient "Klik-tite" cap.

Market Report

By The Associated Press

BRADSTREET'S REPORT WILL SAY TODAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: "Developments of the week have been extremely irregular, a not unusual feature in late July and early August with a slight drift toward the quiet side in trade and in industry. These occurrences have been the result of a varied play of forces in crop developments so very irregular commodity price movements having their rise herein, while foreign, political and financial features have influenced domestic financial markets. An increase in the discussions as to wheat yields and prices tended to inject more caution into forward buying and industry except in the western steel trade has tended to slacken as backed-up orders have lessened.

"Despite the reports of quieting in trade, the undeniable fact is that distribution and industry are still in a far more favorable situation than a year ago, or, indeed, for three years past 'this season'."

"Weekly bank clearings $6-626,827,000."

ROTARIANS HONORED HARDING'S MEMORY

Beit Service at Meeting of Local Club Friday—Members Talk About Business Conditions.

The late President Warren G. Harding was a Rotarian and because of that fact there was special observance in his memory at the meeting of the Jacksonville Rotary club Friday at noon. Dr. A. H. Dollear, president of the club, had arranged a flag at half mast and asked John J. Reeve to express words of appreciation.

Mr. Reeve voiced the thought that Mr. Harding as president has constantly grown in the estimation of the people. His kindly spirit, together with the vision he has evidenced as president, combined to give him increasing regard.

At the recent International Rotary convention in St. Louis President Harding made a brief address as he stopped in St. Louis on his way to Alaska. He there voiced the thought that if he could establish a Rotary club in every city in the world and spread abroad the purposes of Rotary, that the end of the world troubles in relation to war would certainly come. Mr. Reeve quoted that statement and others made by the president in St. Louis.

In the absence of the speaker invited for the day Earl Spink, as chairman of the program committee presided and asked several members of the club to speak in an impromptu way on give their views on the business situation.

H. M. Capps reviewed business affairs as related to the wool and clothing industry, stating that the prospects for fair business for the next few months are excellent, with some little uncertainty as to the period beyond. He described his own point of view as conservatively optimistic.

Nelson McMurphy, speaking for the steel industry, said that business conditions are satisfactory with no indication of higher prices. H. L. Caldwell of the Caldwell Engineering Co., compared present business conditions with the pre-war period, and said that in lines of business with which he is in contact there is no indication of return to pre-war levels, and the outlook is promising.

Frank J. Heim said that the prosperity of the nation is really based upon the condition of its natural resources and that prosperity must be judged from the country and not from the city. He is of the opinion that the farmer's condition is improving and that as soon as the farmer has the opportunity of securing more for the dollars he spends that farm conditions will again be normal.

Guests of the day introduced were Will Sanford of Great Falls, Mont.; Dr. Rahmes of Ashland and M. E. Cray of Peoria.

Announcement was made by President Dollear of the prospect of a district conference of Rotary presidents and secretaries here and also the joint meeting of Kiwanis and Rotary to be held early in September.

MORGAN COUNTY FAIR NOTES.

The directors of the Morgan County Fair Association are attempting to locate a well that has been lost on the Morgan County fair grounds. Information received was that this well was in use during the races many years ago, but when the course of the race track was changed the well was covered by the track. An attempt is being made to find some one who knows the exact location of this well, because information received shows that it is located on an almost undrainable stream of water.

Some information has been received that the well was sealed up and the present race track runs over the spot. It is thought that well is located somewhere under the track on the north side. The Board of Directors are very desirous of getting in touch with any persons who knows the location of this well, as it would be very valuable as a source of water supply on the fair grounds.

Plans were being discussed among the directors of the fair association, yesterday, to hold a Home coming in connection with the County Fair. The Home coming would be under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Fair association. Letters would be sent out to all former Morgan county residents, sending them special invitations to attend the grand Home coming event. We are going to make this Home coming the greatest event in the history of Morgan county.

We expect to get in touch with thousands of former residents thru the letter files and magazines. It is well known that thousands of former Morgan county residents have made good both in the business and political world and by having a huge reunion of all these men and women, it is believed that the Morgan county fair can be made a success not to be compared in history.

Although the Home coming event is not a certainty, the plans that were discussed are very favorable and it is believed they will materialize in a very short while. Secretary Welch of the Chamber of Commerce and J. L. Henry, president of the Fair association, announced yesterday that everything possible would be done in order to bring back the old residents of Morgan county during the fair. It is officially stated that hundreds of other cities have made successes in Home coming events and by having it in connection with the county fair, Jacksonville's Home coming would be even greater than these. It is not decided upon which day the Home coming will be held.

The directors of the Morgan County Fair association under the leadership of Harold Welch, secretary yesterday discussed plans for setting aside one of the days of the Morgan County Fair as Elks Day. This day will be featured by Elks Stake races and Elks from all parts of the country will gather to celebrate the gala event. Steps will be taken to co-operate with the local order of Elks, to make this one of the greatest days of the Morgan County Fair. It is expected that the Elks will plan an elaborate parade on this day.

A beautiful engraved Silver Trophy was received from the Duroc Jersey Breeders Association at the Morgan County Fair offices yesterday to be awarded at the futurity show of the Morgan County Fair. The trophy is in the form of a fancy desert dish with engraved cover and open face for name of the winner. The grand premium ribbons also arrived at the offices yesterday and inspection proved them to be of the finest quality obtainable. They are all engraved in gold with elaborate lettering, differing in colors down to the fifth premium. The Sweepstakes ribbons bear five inch rosettes carrying the Grand State seal in the center.

Further negotiations by the directors with representatives of tent firms continued yesterday but as yet the contract for several acres of canvas has not been let. However, it is expected that the deal will be completed either today or tomorrow.

LIEUT. BLACKWELL TO BE BURIED SUNDAY

The funeral of Lieutenant Commander J. M. Blackwell of the U. S. navy is to be held at Warrenton, Va., tomorrow. The death of Lieutenant Commander Blackwell occurred recently at San Diego, as the result of an explosion of gasoline while he was engaged in some domestic duty in the kitchen of his home.

The sad happening is of interest in this locality from the fact that Mrs. Blackwell before her marriage was Miss Gladys Slevierling of Carrollton. The wife and their five year old daughter survive.

Lieutenant Commander Blackwell was under orders to go to Asiatic waters about Sept. 17. He graduated from the naval academy at Annapolis in 1911 and commanded the U. S. S. Rhode Island during the world war and was in charge of the U. S. S. Rizer at San Diego at the time of his death.

RETURNS FROM EAST.

ASSOCIATED PRESS GAVE FINE SERVICE

General Manager Martin Complimented Members of the Organization on Great Work Done.

The Associated Press is accustomed to a fine spirit of co-operation on the part of its workers. Papers served by The Associated Press had every reason yesterday to feel complacent over the service rendered in connection with President Harding's death by this greatest of news organizations. The excellence of the service is of course based upon the spirit of co-operation already mentioned. It was in special recognition of this service that the general manager issued the following message last night to Associated Press men throughout the U. S.

To All Associated Press Men—The Associated Press never functioned more satisfactorily than last night. Its work was alert, steady and flawless. The news from San Francisco, Washington and New England was almost instantaneously on our wires and in every state the editors and operators cooperated finely in a magnificent manifestation of newspaper work.

Frederick Roy Martin, General Manager, New York.

Someone left a small still in a blackberry patch at a residence on the Mound road. Sheriff Wright and his forces found the still yesterday and are still looking for the owner. At last reports last night, the owner had not claimed the still, which was taken into custody by the authorities for safe keeping.

The owner of the place where the still was found was shocked and grieved at the discovery and declared that the still was not his property. He offered to pay for the bloodhounds to trail the rightful owner. An attempt was made to procure the dogs from Alsey, but Charles Ross, who formerly owned dogs had disposed of them. No arrests have been made in the case, and the sheriff's forces are making further investigations.
